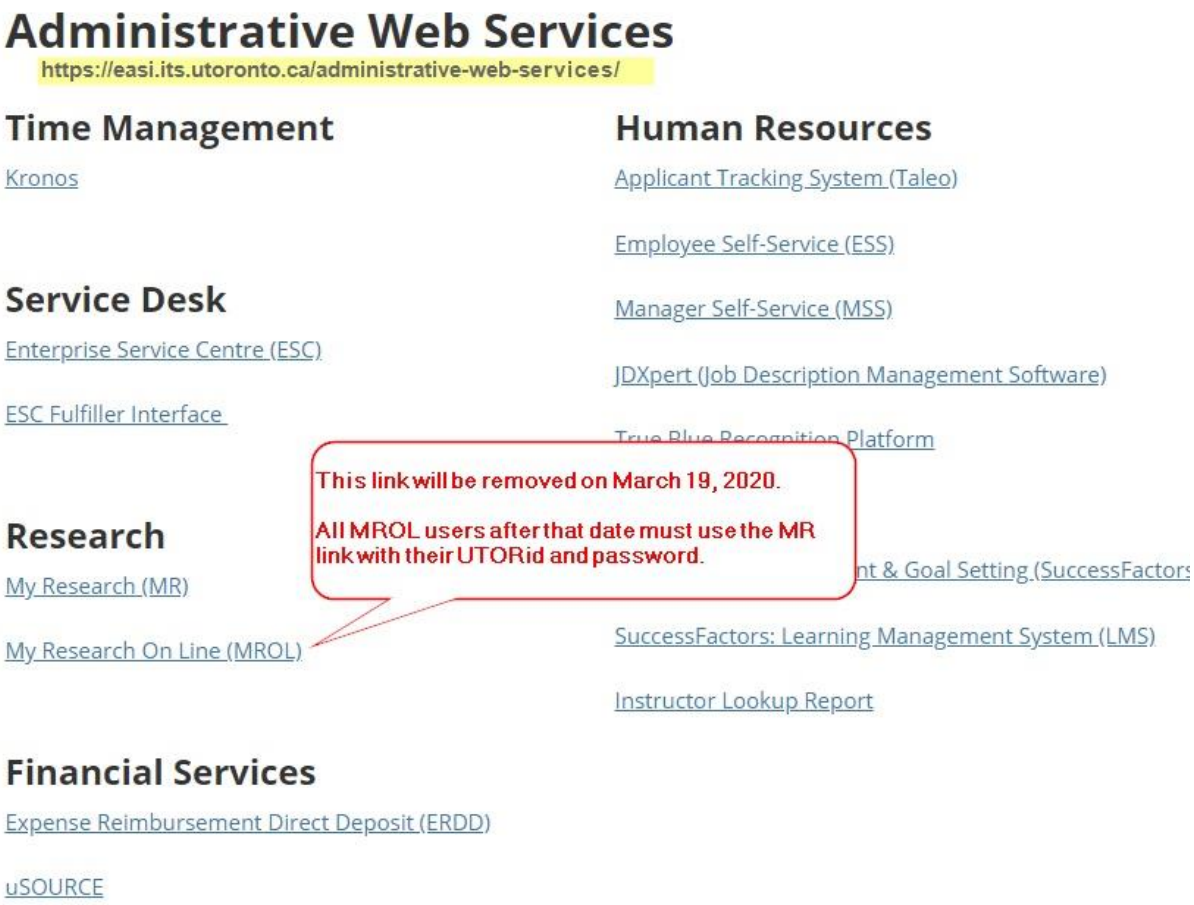
On March 19th MROL moves to My Research Portal

March 11, 2020 • Reply to RAISE Team

Beginning March 19th, the link to My Research On-Line (MROL) will be removed and all users will access MROL via the My Research portal. This consolidation will streamline access to the system, and is part of the U of T Enterprise Modernization Program.

To access My Research On Line (MROL) once you've logged into the My Research portal, click on the My Research tab and then on the My Research On Line sub tab. If you are prompted to enter a User name and Password when you click on My Research On Line, please clear your web browser's cache and try again.



How will this change impact you?

Principal Investigators:
Can currently access MROL through a direct link using their SAP credentials, or via the My Research portal using their UTORid. On March 19th, the direct link will be removed, and users will continue to access MROL via the My Research portal.

Business Officers and Project Managers:
Can currently only access MROL through the direct link using their SAP credentials. On March 19th, this direct link will be removed, and users will access MROL via the My Research portal.

We encourage you to bookmark the My Research login page and to remove any MROL bookmarks that you have previously added to your browser.

This change is part of the larger plan to revitalize the Funded Research Digest (FReD) and My Research On-Line (MROL). The Division of the Vice President Research and Innovation has conducted extensive consultations with end users in the spring and fall of 2019 regarding the revitalization of these systems. Please stay tuned for additional information in the months ahead regarding progress on this project.
