

PSI Graham Farquharson Knowledge Translation Fellowship Guidelines

This document serves as the funding guidelines for the PSI Graham Farquharson Knowledge Translation Fellowship.

Purpose of the Fellowship

This Fellowship is intended to provide salary support for a new Ontario investigator, who has demonstrated the ability to successfully complete high impact knowledge translation research. The Fellowship's funds, dedicated to salary support, must protect at least 50% of the Fellow's time to conduct such research.

Please note: this funding opportunity is not an additional PSI operating grant.

Definition of Knowledge Translation Research

PSI recognizes that numerous definitions exist for knowledge translation research. Please see the following PSI Foundation definition to assist with your application.

Knowledge translation research is aimed at taking research discoveries and moving them into the real world to improve health outcomes. Relevant discoveries may result from many disparate sources, including the physiologic or mechanistic studies in the laboratory setting, or findings from human trials. Therefore, knowledge translation research may involve taking observations in the laboratory and integrating them into the design of clinical studies, or may involve taking clinical research findings and encoding them into clinical policies. The latter is the knowledge translation focus of the PSI Foundation, which is more likely to directly affect the health outcomes of Ontarians. Approaches to knowledge translation could include, but are not limited to, understanding and analyzing barriers to health care availability, access or uptake; examining behavioural, organizational, financial, ethical, and cultural determinants of practice; or effectively and efficiently addressing modifiable gaps in care. Translational research of greatest interest to the PSI Foundation is multi-disciplinary and multi-method, focused on improving the processes of care and/or outcomes of care for Ontarians.

Eligibility of Candidate

The candidate for the Fellowship must be either:

- within five (5) years of their first academic appointment and have demonstrated potential for high impact research work
- dedicate at least 50% of a full-time schedule to the Fellowship

- a practising physician having direct patient care responsibilities and an academic appointment, thus eligible to apply for her/his own research grants as an independent investigator.

OR

- a fellow who is a practising physician having direct patient care responsibilities, with a supervisor who has an academic appointment and provide the necessary research supervision and infrastructure (including administering the grant at the sponsoring institution). A letter of support from this supervisor must be included in the application.

Ineligible Candidates

- Residents may not apply
- Individuals who do not hold an M.D.
- Individuals based outside of Ontario

Sponsoring Institution

PSI Foundation will accept a maximum of two (2) candidates from each of Ontario's six medical universities. Please note: all applications are submitted through the appropriate academic health science centre; applications sent directly to the Foundation from the applicant will not be accepted.

Amount and Duration of Funding

This program offers two options for a funding timeline for salary support:

A maximum of $150,000 per year for two years;

OR

A maximum of $100,000 per year for three years.

Please note: the award is intended to protect at least 50% of the fellow's time to undertake research, regardless of whether the award is taken over two or three years.

The Fellowship will be offered annually.

Even though this program is primarily intended to offer salary support to protect research time the fellow may allocate up to 25% of the total award to undertake a research project.

The PSI Graham Farquharson Fellow is able to apply to PSI's Health Research program for an operating grant.

Application Contents

Proposed Research Plan

Please provide a detailed research plan, including a protocol for planned research, a timeline of the fellowship, how protected research time will be used, matching funds currently in place and how they will be used, and how such matching funds will be obtained if not currently held

Letter of Support from Sponsoring Institution

This letter should provide an evaluation and rationale for the nomination of the candidate, addressing the following points:

- Candidate's past performance.
- Potential research environment for the candidate, including a description of the department/program, current faculty and health research resources and facilities available.
- Department/program's need for the candidate in relation to current and future research plans and priorities.
- Assurance of protected research time and that the award will be protected if the recipient has income from other sources. The intent of this fellowship is to encourage the candidate by financial reward and/or protection of time to pursue research goals. Please note: the Foundation does not allow the award to become part of the total moneys previously paid to the recipient by the sponsoring institution.

Letter of Support from Mentor

PSI values the role of mentorship in supporting the success of the applicant during this fellowship (two to three years). Therefore, the application would be significantly enhanced with a letter from an existing or proposed mentor outlining the nature, plan, and duration of mentorship.

Support requested from PSI

PSI will consider up to 25% of the award to support a research study. Use this section to include the study's protocol, if applicable.

Please note: PSI expects the Fellow to have a minimum of $30,000 from another source in place to undertake this study, before allocating any of these funds to the operating grant. Any institutional In-Kind support will not be considered towards this required amount.
