Vol. 20, No. 8

Faculty Message

As we come to the close of the calendar year, we wish to acknowledge the fantastic performance of our staff, students and faculty in this, the final MedEmail of 2011. Our Faculty has made major strides in all domains of our Strategic Plan: Vision, Mission and Values.

Our Vision is creating international leadership in improving health through innovation in research and education.

Our Mission is to fulfill our social responsibility by developing leaders, contributing to our communities and improving the health of individuals and populations through the discovery, application and communication of knowledge

Our Values are:

- Integrity in all of our endeavours
- Commitment to innovation and excellence
- Life-long learning and critical inquiry
- Promotion of social justice, equity, diversity and professionalism
- Effective partnership with all our stakeholders
- Multi-professional and interdisciplinary collaboration
- Supportive and respectful relationships
- Accountability and transparency
- Responsiveness to local, national, and international health needs

Collectively, we fulfill our Vision and Mission by:

- Articulating the goals for each Department, Program and Centre/Institute aligned with the Faculty of Medicine Strategic Academic Plan;
- Ensuring the academic goals are fulfilled through strategic recruitment and retention of the most highly skilled and committed faculty, students and staff;
- Developing visionary leaders and expert managers;
- Measuring academic outcomes and their impact with key performance indicators; and
- Effectively communicating our successful impact in improving health to all public and private local, national and global stakeholders.

Looking to the future and implementing our Strategic Academic Plan, we will draw upon the nimble, forward thinking and energetic leadership across our Faculty, our partners in our affiliated hospitals and the University.

It is a tremendous pleasure to work with such outstanding people, particularly our decanal colleagues, Vice Deans and Associate Deans, as well our Senior Managers in the Dean's Office. We wish to acknowledge the immeasurable hard work that goes into the day-to-day operations of the Faculty and the commitment of the entire team. We also owe thanks to our Chairs, unit Directors and colleagues across the entire Faculty. Finally, a special thanks to our administrative staff who support all of us in our daily work. On behalf of all of us, we wish you the best of the holiday season and a very Happy New Year.

Sarita Verma, Deputy Dean
Faculty of Medicine

Catharine Whiteside, Dean
Faculty of Medicine
Vice-Provost
Relations with Health Care Institutions

Vice Dean, Continuing Education and Professional Development

Applications are invited for the position of Vice-Dean, Continuing Education and Professional Development, Faculty of Medicine, University of Toronto, for a 5-year term beginning July 1, 2012.

The University of Toronto academic health science complex is among the largest in North America. The Faculty of Medicine (<http://www.facmed.utoronto.ca>) and its nine fully-affiliated hospitals receive over CDN $700 million per annum in research funds. The Faculty of Medicine's Office of Continuing Education and Professional Development (CEPD) is the largest provider of CEPD in Canada.

The Office of CEPD has a long-standing global reputation for innovation, leadership and excellence in continuing education and professional development. As a knowledge hub for the research, design and delivery of innovative, accredited continuous learning experiences for healthcare professionals this dynamic unit enables the delivery of Better Education for Better Outcomes™. Outcome-based continuous learning experiences result from leveraging innovative education techniques and drawing upon research to accelerate knowledge transfer – turning knowledge effectively into action. This plays a critical role in enabling healthcare professionals to make better decisions around the care and treatment of their patients, resulting in improved health outcomes.

For detailed information on the Office of Continuing Education and Professional Development, visit its website at <http://www.cepd.utoronto.ca>

The next Vice Dean must have the vision and ability to lead the Office to new levels of achievement, entrepreneurship and international recognition, particularly in concert with the strategic goals of the Faculty of Medicine. The successful candidate will be a respected educator and recognized scholar with the experience to catalyze research and innovation in all areas of continuing education and professional development. S/he will possess outstanding academic, administrative management, and interpersonal skills and the ability to build collaborative relationships. S/he will have a track record of successful and innovative leadership in promoting excellence in education and research. S/he will bring vision and execute strategies that will enable the Office of CEPD to continue to build and sustain interprofessional partnerships with stakeholders internal and external to the University and its affiliated institutions. Candidates should have a track record of successful and innovative leadership in education and research, and must be eligible for academic appointment at the rank of Associate or Full Professor.

Please submit applications (electronic submissions preferred) consisting of a letter of interest and CV to:
